COMMITTEE ON GRADUATE STUDIES

MINUTES
April 12, 2012 11:00AM
STRONG HALL – ROOM 210

Members Present:  Ed Morris (Chair), Daniel Katz, Eve Levin, Alison Gabriele, Kees van der Veen, Stephanie Meador, John Korba, Paulyn Cartwright, Gina Westergard,
Others in attendance:  Morgan Swartzlander (COGA) Lea Smith (COGA)

The meeting was called to order by Ed Morris at 11:04a.m.
Minutes

A motion was made and seconded to approve the March 29, 2012 minutes of the Committee on Graduate Studies. The motion was approved unanimously.

Report of the Curricular Changes Subcommittee
(Kees Van der Veen, reporting)

- A motion was made and seconded to approve the following course changes recommended by the subcommittee. The motion was approved unanimously.
  - ENGL 800, PHSX 792

- A motion was made and seconded to approve the following new courses recommended by the subcommittee. The motion was approved unanimously.
  - ASTR 792, PHSX 702

Report of the Petitions & Program Changes Subcommittee
(Gina Westergard reporting)

- A motion was made and seconded to approve the distribution of hours for the Geography MA. The motion was approved unanimously. Research Skill requirement of a non-credit two-day field course before classes begin in the fall semester. The committee recommended adding a statement to clarify that the field course requirement is due only once in the student’s program of study. The motion was approved unanimously pending minor changes.
  - A motion was made and seconded to approve the change in the Geography Ph.D. The committee recommended an effective start date of Fall 2012.
  - A motion was made and seconded to approve GEOG 805 and GEOG 980 to satisfy the RS(2) requirement. The motion was approved unanimously.

Report of the Policies, Procedures, and Awards Subcommittee
(Eve Levin reporting)

Dr. Levin gave an update on the GTA survey that has been circulated with feedback from departments. Dr. Levin recommended that the SP12 CGS capture the committee’s observations of the survey and review the survey outcomes.

FINAL SP12 CGS COMMITTEE MEETINGS: APRIL 26, 2012, and, MAY 10, 2012
FINAL MEETING OF THE CAC: MAY 8, 2012

II. Curricular Changes Subcommittee Report

The Curricular Changes Subcommittee recommends the following to the CGS:

COURSE CHANGES
INDIGENOUS STUDIES

CHANGE: TITLE & DESCRIPTION

(OLD)
GINS 800: Research Methods and Indigenous Peoples (3) This course is an introduction to the social science methods of investigation and analysis that are used in Indigenous Nations Studies as a discipline. The nature of Indigenous Nations Studies data sources and methods of data collection, the logic of social scientific inquiry, and key methods of data analysis are emphasized. In addition, the social and educational implications of the results are examined. LEC

(NEW)
ISP 800: Indigenous Issues in the United States (3) This course will focus on contemporary issues relating to Indigenous peoples and nations within the United States, with particular emphasis on such issues as sovereignty, indignity, colonialism and decolonization. The course will address varied disciplinary approaches to this range of issues and will consider how this discourse bears upon scholarly conversations regarding broader themes in other selected fields of study. LEC

JUSTIFICATION
We are changing the course title and description in response to program changes approved by CGS & CAC during Fall 2011. Indication of these changes as "forthcoming" was included in the text of the approved program changes.

NEW COURSES

APPLIED BEHAVIORAL SCIENCES

ABSC 862: Behavioral Community Psychology (3) A seminar that provides an overview of the history and origin of behavioral community psychology. The course will examine the development and future of behavioral community psychology as an integration of two sub-disciplines, applied behavior analysis and community psychology. The course will provide an integrated review of empirically-based behavioral interventions applied in community-based settings. The course is offered at the 500 and 800 levels with additional assignments required at the 800-level. Prerequisite: ABSC 796, or ABSC 710, or instructor permission. ABSC 796, or ABSC 710, or instructor permission. SEM

JUSTIFICATION
This course will add an option for the second-level requirement for “principles of behavior” in the ABS doctoral program. A new course focused on the application of behavior analysis in community settings will allow for students to understand how applied behavior analysis can be used to address a range of problem behaviors (e.g., civic involvement, littering, speeding, shoplifting) that occur in communities. The course will extend present course offerings as there are only a few courses presently offered in the department that focus on the application of behavior analysis with not only individuals, but also groups and communities. The course will be offered at the 500 and 800 levels with additional assignments required at the 800-level.
ABSC 831: Science of Human Behavior (3) A graduate seminar on the analysis of human behavior, grounded in basic behavioral principles. The focus is on the process and products of human development, among them motivation/emotion, social behavior, personality, sensation/perception, language, cognition, creativity, attitudes/beliefs, consciousness/unconsciousness, purpose/will, and values. The course is pre-approved by the Behavior Analysis Certification Board® for its BCBA® certification requirements. Prerequisite: ABSC 798 and Master’s degree in ABS or instructor permission. SEM

This course will add (a) an option to the second-level ABS doctoral program requirement in “the experimental analysis of behavior or conceptual foundations” and (b) an option to the second-level requirement for “conceptual foundations” in the ABS doctoral program accredited by the Association for Behavior Analysis. Course content will be drawn, in part, from material covered in two of the 14 modules of ABSC 798 Conceptual Foundations of Applied Behavioral Science (e.g., cognition/perception, emotion/motivation). Removing them from ABSC 798 will allow that course to expand its coverage of the field’s foundations (e.g., history, theory, philosophy of science, social philosophy). Including them in the new course, along with many other modules (e.g., development, personality/self, creativity/novelty, attitudes/beliefs, consciousness/intentionality, values/morality), allows the new course to address a broader range of the human experience and condition.

Type of Program: New Degree—M.S. in Geography
(e.g., New Degree, Joint Degree, Minor, Concentration, Certificate, Emphasis, Track, or Option)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Area</th>
<th>Summary</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1. Program Description and Purpose</td>
<td>As an interdisciplinary field, geography spans the humanities, physical sciences, and social sciences, often distinctly incorporating spatial and temporal analysis in its understanding of Earth Systems. Although the department offers B.A., B.G.S., as well as B.S. degrees for undergraduates to reflect this diversity, it only offers a M.A. degree for graduate students. An increased number of graduate students seek to specialize in the study of the Earth System's bio-physical components, acquiring advanced skills in spatial and quantitative analytical techniques in hopes of being hired by regional and national data analysis and environmental consulting firms. As an example, the NASA graduate fellowship requires a M.S. program and a M.A. program is not acceptable. A M.S. degree in geography would better reflect the nature of students' training and benefit them in markets where a strong physical science background is required. Moreover, by offering a M.S. degree the department will be able to attract more students with strong quantitative skills and interests in physical geography and geographic information science.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. Comparable programs in the state/region</td>
<td>Several leading geography programs in the nation offer M.S. degrees. UW Madison offers M.S. programs in Geography and Geographic Information Science (GIScience). Penn State offers a M.S. in GIScience. SUNY Buffalo also offers M.S. programs in GIScience and Environmental and Earth Systems sciences. Northwest Missouri State University is the nearest school that offers an on-line M.S. degree in GIScience. Several other regional universities also offer M.S. degrees in GIScience and physical geography including Michigan State, Indiana University, Northern Illinois University, UW Milwaukee, and North Texas. In Kansas, no geography program offers M.S. degrees. Our proposed M.S. degree will, therefore, provide a unique program to graduate students who would like to focus on bio-physical and geographic information science areas in geography.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
3. Source(s) of articulated demand / need for this program
   (Provide specific information / data)
   Graduate study in physical geography and geographic information science is quantitative in nature. The M.S. degree is a natural continuation after the B.S. degree, which the department already offers. Also the newly established B.S. in Interdisciplinary Computing with Geography Concentration in EECS could also feed students to the proposed M.S. program. Six current graduate students have expressed the desire to obtain a M.S. instead of a M.A. degree, which would better reflect the nature of these students' interests. Kansas City is a major environmental consulting hub in the nation – a M.S. degree would greatly benefit those students who wish to enter this growing environmental job market.

4. Proposed Curriculum
   A minimum of thirty credit hours will be required for the M.S. degree. Students must pass an oral examination and write a thesis with a maximum of 6 thesis credit hours. There are two required courses: 805 and 716 (Advanced Geostatistics) or an equivalent graduate-level course in statistics and experimental design. Students also will be required to take one course (500-level or above) in each of three areas in geography (GIScience, Physical Geography/Atmospheric Sciences, and Regional/Human Geography). In addition, at least three courses (above 500-level) in an approved area of concentration (GIScience or Physical Geography) will be required.

5. Faculty required for this program
   (Names, FTE for this proposed program)
   The current faculty who can teach in this program: David Braaten (Professor), Nate Brunsell (Associate Professor), Jerry Dobson (Professor), Steve Egbert (Associate Professor), Johan Feddema (Professor), Dan Hirmas (Assistant Professor), Bill Johnson (Professor), Xingong Li (Associate Professor), George McCleary (Associate Professor), David Mechem (Assistant Professor), Terry Slocum (Associate Professor), Donna Tucker (Associate Professor), and Kees van der Veen (Professor). 7. Anticipated number of program graduates after 5 years; after 7 years
   25 students after 5 years and 30 students after 7 years.

8. Additional facilities / equipment required
   No additional facilities and equipment are required
9. Program Review, Assessment, Accreditation aspects of the program
The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences conducts departmental reviews. The geography department is reviewed every 7-8 years, most recently in 2009-2010. Curricula for department courses are reviewed annually during the faculty evaluation process to ensure that they are appropriate for the courses being taught. No professional organization accredits masters (both M.A. and M.S.) programs in geography.

10. Financing: New funding required for this program.
No new funding is required.

What is the source of the new funds?

11. Additional comments on the utility/necessity of this program.
With recent hires, the geography department is expanding its physical basis into more quantitative areas, such as glaciology and soil physics and chemistry. Attracting students in these areas has proven to be difficult because of the lack of a M.S. option. The new degree would make the department and the University a stronger competitor in attracting exceptional students.

When completed, this form is to be e-mailed by the College/School Dean to the Vice Provost for Academic Affairs, Lawrence Campus. A copy of the submitted form is to be e-mailed to Jenny Mehmedovic, Assistant to the Provost, Policy Office, a division of the Office of the Provost.

Graduate Certificate:
Peace & Conflict Studies

Description: Offered by the Humanities & Western Civilization Program, Peace & Conflict Studies is a multidisciplinary and interdisciplinary approach to the study of human conflict. It examines the origins and nature of conflict within and among societies and the various ways in which humans address conflict. Through academic coursework and the possibility of practical experience, Peace & Conflict Studies offers students a concentrated program of study of one of the most central and urgent human issues: the causes and consequences of human conflict and the achievements and possibilities of building peaceful and equitable forms of social existence. An undergraduate minor in Peace & Conflict Studies was inaugurated in the spring semester of 2003. The Graduate Certificate program in Peace & Conflict Studies is designed to provide students with a focused program of study in the subject area and certification of the completion of the program on the graduate transcript. Enrollment in the program will be open to students admitted to a regular KU graduate program or to non-degree-seeking graduate status. A Graduate Certificate in Peace & Conflict Studies should be of interest and value to students across a broad range of humanistic and social-scientific disciplines, especially in such fields as the international area studies programs, History, International Studies, Political Science, and Religious Studies. The certificate will enhance the credentials of students seeking careers in government service both civil and military, nongovernmental organizations, international business, law, and teaching.

Requirements: 12 hours of graduate coursework including:
- PCS 801, Peace & Conflict Studies: Texts and Methods (3 hours);
- Two elective courses chosen from the list below or other courses approved by the PCS advisory committee;
- PCS 850, Research Seminar (3 hours).

PCS 801 Peace & Conflict Studies: Texts and Methods (3 hours)
An interdisciplinary study of the historic literature on human conflict and peacemaking and the methods used to analyze and interpret the literature. Peace literature encompasses a range of genres that include religious teachings, philosophical essays, political proposals, treaties and conventions, fiction, poetry, and drama. Approaches to solutions to human conflict cover a spectrum including rejection of all violence, active nonviolent strategies, balance of power requiring force, social and political revolution, diplomacy and treaties, international law and organizations, and world government. Students produce a substantial graduate-level research project. Required for the Graduate Certificate, and to be taken as early as possible in the student’s program of study. Open only to graduate students.

PCS 850 Research Seminar (3 hours)
The capstone of the Graduate Certificate program, providing a substantial and indepth study of a particular topic in Peace & Conflict Studies, to be chosen by the instructor. The members of the seminar have the option of doing a research project or supervised practicum resulting in a substantial paper that integrates their work in the program. Required for the Graduate Certificate, and open only to graduate students. Prerequisite: at least six hours of coursework toward the Graduate Certificate including HWC 801.

Elective Courses
The following list consists of currently approved courses. Courses included for elective credit are reviewed by the Coordinating Committee and updated each year. The Program Coordinator annually requests information (including syllabi) about new courses that faculty are proposing for inclusion in the Peace & Conflict Studies program. The Coordinating Committee reviews and accepts or rejects the Coordinator's proposals for including new courses.

Application and Admissions Procedure

Current Students
Current graduate students wishing to enroll in the Graduate Certificate program will need to apply through the Graduate School. Please visit the Graduate Admissions website at: http://www.graduated.ku.edu/01-04_apply.shtml and click on "apply here." Applicants will be taken through the process of applying online using the KUGRAD form. The application process entails: completing the KUGRAD form, paying a $30.00 application fee, and submitting material required for the Peace & Conflict Studies Certificate, identified on page 4 of the application:

- A letter stating their interest in Peace & Conflict Studies and its relationship to their graduate course of study.
- An unofficial copy of their KU transcript
- A letter of support from their graduate degree program

A student must be in good standing with their graduate degree program in order to participate in the Certificate program. A graduate GPA of 3.0 or higher is required for admission.

New Students
Students applying for admission to another graduate program at KU will send a letter of application stating their interest in Peace & Conflict Studies, and after receiving formal notification of admission to the other program must request that a letter of confirmation be sent to PCS. They will be admitted to the Graduate Certificate Program on the condition that they are admitted into regular status by the other program.

Non-degree Applicants
Non-degree-seeking graduate students must complete an application for non-degree status to the Graduate School and submit an application fee, two copies of official transcripts from all previous post-secondary educational institutions, a personal statement of the student’s interest in Peace & Conflict Studies, and two letters of recommendation from persons familiar with their academic work and potential for graduate school. Minimum requirements will be a bachelor’s degree with a 3.0 or higher GPA. The GPA requirement may be waived at the discretion of the PCS Coordinator. Download the PCS non-degree seeking student checklist as a PDF file here. Application deadlines: May 1 for Fall semester; November 15 for Spring semester.

Hi Marike,

There have been 7 Peace and Conflict Studies graduate certificates awarded in the past 7 years.
   1 in 2006
   1 in 2009
   5 in 2010

There are currently 3 students enrolled in the graduate certificate.

Please let me know if you have any questions about these numbers.

Thank you,
