VI. New Business
   A. Election of 2009-2010 Chair of CUSA

Lunch will be served in appreciation of the CUSA members’ service.
The committee met on Tuesday, April 28, 2009, at 11:00 a.m. in Room 210 Strong Hall. The following were present: Blackmore, Bradley, Burright, Crosby, Cudd, Dozier, Ledom, Madden, Manning, McNeley, Mielke, Mort, Roberts, Rudolph, Tucker MINUTES A motion was made and seconded to approve the April 14, 2009 minutes of the Committee on Undergraduate Studies & Advising with no corrections. The motion was approved unanimously.

CHAIR'S REPORT Professor Madden reported that the Non-major BGS and Majors Admissions Criteria Proposal had passed the College Assembly ballot vote process.

DEAN'S REPORT Associate Dean Cudd reported the Language Chairs and Directors met and discussed, among other things, the sequencing of courses necessary to achieve 4th-level proficiency. They agreed that proficiency was the goal, and that four semesters of three credit hour courses is acceptable. They also agreed that topics courses should not be used for elementary and intermediate level except for very short term, and that rubrics for individual languages should be sought as soon as possible. The Language Chairs and Directors will be meeting every semester.

CLA&S STUDENT ACADEMIC SERVICES REPORT Assistant Dean McNeley reported that the Incomplete Policy revisions had passed at University Senate. The revisions are in the comment/feedback time period now and will then move forward for approval by the Provost.

SUBCOMMITTEE CHAIR REPORTS

A. ADVISING & AWARDS – The committee is still reading and evaluating the applications.

B. CURRICULAR CHANGES/DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

   Professor Manning presented for the subcommittee. A motion to approve the above curricular changes was made, seconded, and passed unanimously.

2. Degree Requirements for Approval

   a) Non-Western Culture Status for GINS 600, 602, 613, 614, 673

      A motion to approve the above was made, seconded, and approved unanimously.

   b) Change to Existing Jewish Studies Minor

      The above change was approved unanimously, pending clarification with the Director that there should be no space issues in the Jewish Studies cross-referenced courses.

   c) Change to English Major – Traditional Emphasis

      The request for deletion of HL Principal Course status for ENGL 308 had been tabled at the April 14 CUSA meeting for additional information, and because that decision affected this request for a change to the English Major Traditional Emphasis, the members first reviewed the additional rationale submitted by the department for deletion of HL principal course status.

      It was noted that a correction needed to be made in the Change to English Major – Traditional Emphasis: under “Proposed Changes,” the following line should be deleted: “Creative writing majors must take 15 or the 18 core hours (any combination) and 15 hours of creative writing electives.” After further discussion, including a concern about how this change might affect the number of seats available for both majors and non-majors, both the deletion of HL Principal Course status for ENGL 308, and the Change to English Major – Traditional Emphasis, were approved unanimously, with the correction noted above.

   d) Change to BS Economics General Education Requirements – tabled upon further clarification of requirements.
C. ACADEMIC STANDARDS – No Report.

OLD BUSINESS

A. Continued discussion of CUSA consideration of NM Courses: EECS 128 and EECS 138
After discussion, it was agreed to table this topic until Fall 2009 due to the committee’s time constraints.

B. Deletion of HL Principal Course Status for ENGL 308 – Approved as noted above.

NEW BUSINESS

A. Clarification needed in Non-major BGS degree track (now approved): Under the Natural Science & Math Requirement for the non-major BGS, there was a concern that students may believe that they can fulfill the requirement for two natural science courses by taking one course and the lab section accompanying it.

The members of the committee discussed the above concern and there was general agreement that a solution would be for departments to clean up all their “N” and “U” course designations.

It was noted that lunch would be served at the next (and last for the Spring 2009 semester) meeting on Tuesday, May 12, 2009. The meeting was adjourned at 12:07 p.m.
1. Curricular Changes for Approval

ANTHROPOLOGY

CHANGE: COURSE DESCRIPTION

ANTH 315 THE PREHISTORY OF ART  3  S

(OLD) A survey of prehistoric art focusing on the material record and interpretations of rock art (paintings, engravings on rock surfaces in rock-shelters, caves and in open air sites) and portable art created by prehistoric people. The emphasis is on the small-scale societies (hunter-gatherer and early food producers) around the world before the appearance of written records in respective geographic areas. Environmental, social and cultural contexts in which these art forms were created are discussed along with a review of past scholarship and current interpretive approaches to this old and enduring expression of human creativity. (Same as HA 315)

(NEW) A survey of prehistoric art focusing on the material record and interpretations of rock art (paintings, engravings on rock surfaces in rock-shelters, caves and in open air sites) and portable art created by prehistoric people. 2. Degree Requirements for Approval

a) Change to Existing Creative Writing Concentration for the English Major

PROPOSAL:
To require English majors planning to pursue the creative writing concentration to:
• Declare the concentration before enrolling in their third creative writing course at 300 level or above.
• Submit a portfolio of their work to a committee of creative writing faculty the semester before enrollment in a third creative writing course with a fall semester deadline of September 15 and a spring semester deadline of February 15. The review will determine whether the student may be admitted to the concentration.
JUSTIFICATION:
- Faculty and students report current 500 level creative writing workshop courses are less productive than they should be. These new admission requirements ensure only students with strong writing ability may enroll in 500 level creative writing courses.
- The portfolio requirement eliminates the possibility of a student pursuing the concentration as a last minute option, eliminating students pursuing the concentration from taking all of their creative writing courses their senior year.
- Students will benefit by practicing the discipline of assembling a portfolio.
- As a fine art, creative writing demands a selection procedure comparable to that which operates in the School of Fine Arts, where students wishing to pursue a major in art or design must submit a portfolio of their work for consideration by an admissions committee.
- The high demand for creative writing classes makes it important to identify student skill and commitment before acceptance into a 500 level course and creative writing concentration.

CURRENT REQUIREMENTS WITH PROPOSED CHANGES IN BOLD:
All English majors, whether taking the traditional, or creative-writing emphasis, must complete 30 hours of junior/senior level courses, including at least two courses (6 hours) numbered at 500 or above.

- TRADITIONAL majors must take English 308 Introduction to Literary Criticism and Theory (or equivalent), English 312, 314, 320 and 322 (or equivalents), and a course on Shakespeare for a total of 18 hours of core requirements.
- CREATIVE WRITING majors must take any 15 of the above core required hours (any combination)
- Each emphasis has its own hours of electives: 12 hours for traditional and 15 hours for creative writing.

Core courses (traditional majors must take all of these; creative writing majors must take five of these six required courses):
- ENGL 308 Introduction to Literary Criticism and Theory (or an equivalent course that emphasizes literary-critical methodology). Students are urged to take English 308 before they enroll in a 500 level literature class.
- ENGL 312 (Major British Writers to 1800) OR any other English course numbered 300 and above which focuses on British literature of at least one of the literary periods from the Middle Ages to 1800, excluding Shakespeare—(3 hours).
- ENGL 314 (Major British Writers after 1800) OR any other English course numbered 300 and above which focuses on British literature of at least one of the literary periods from the Romantic Period to the present—(3 hours).
- A course in Shakespeare (ENGL 332, 626, or 627)—(3 hours)
- ENGL 320 (American Literature I) OR any other English course numbered 300 and above which focuses on American Literature of at least one of the literary periods from Colonial times to 1865—(3 hours).
- ENGL 322 (American Literature II) OR any other English course numbered 300 and above which focuses on American Literature of at least one of the literary periods from 1865 to the present—(3 hours)

Additional requirements for traditional majors (interest code 185 or 186, for the BA and BGS respectively) for a total of 30 hours:
- At least fifteen (12) junior/senior hours in English. A single creative writing course at the 300 level can be applied to this requirement. One course in the HWC 304/308/312 sequence may be applied as an elective. English 495 (Directed Study) or 496 (Internship) may be applied only to these additional requirements.

Additional requirements for the creative-writing major (interest code 270 or 271, for the BA and BGS respectively) for a total of 30 hours:
- Fifteen (15) hours of creative-writing courses, including work in at least two genres. Both ENGL 495 (Directed Study) and ENGL 499 (Honors Essay), if done with a creative-writing emphasis, may be applied, as may ENGL 360 (when the topic is essay-writing), ENGL 555 (Writing Non-Fiction) and TH&F 708 (Dramatic Script Writing) and 709 (Advanced Dramatic Script Writing). For purposes of these requirements, all courses concerned with screenwriting, playwriting, and dramatic scriptwriting will be considered work in a single genre. Creative-writing courses numbered 500 and above may be repeated for credit.

Students intending to pursue the creative writing concentration must apply for admission. Students should do so before enrolling in their third creative writing course at 300 level or above. In order to be accepted into the track, they must submit a portfolio of their work the semester before the student wishes to enroll in a third creative writing course. In the fall semester, the due date for portfolio submission will be September 15. In the spring semester, the due date will be February 15. Although students will not be prevented from enrolling in these courses if they have not been accepted into the creative writing track, they risk losing major credit for the courses if they are not accepted and must therefore switch to the traditional track. Only one creative writing class may be applied towards the traditional major.

Students will be notified of the Committee’s decision before enrollment period begins.

Traditional, and undeclared creative writing majors who wish to enroll in a 500 level creative writing class must seek instructor permission before they can enroll in the course.

b) Creation of Language, Rhetoric and Writing Concentration for the English Major

PROPOSAL:

- Create new Language, Rhetoric and Writing concentration.
- 15 hours of core literature coursework required.
- Remaining 15 hours use existing courses, adding one new course: ENGL 380 Introduction to Rhetoric and Composition (currently being submitted to CUSA for approval).
- Students begin coursework with an introductory survey, either ENGL 380 Introduction to Rhetoric and Composition or ENGL 387 Introduction to the English Language.

JUSTIFICATION:

- Combination of literary study with the study of language and rhetoric.
- Students have been able to take courses in language, rhetoric, and writing. Defining an emphasis in these areas enables students to see that a concentration exists and suggests a path of study in these areas through existing courses.
- Progress through the English major easier for students who might choose these fields.
- Language, rhetoric, and writing are well-established fields in English studies represented by strong graduate programs and a high rate of job placement for graduate students in the field. It is important that these fields be fully identified in the undergraduate English curriculum.

PROPOSED REQUIREMENTS:

ADDITIONS FOR LANGUAGE, RHETORIC, AND WRITING EMPHASIS IN BOLD (CHANGES SUBMITTED FOR CREATIVE WRITING EMPHASIS ARE INCLUDED TO REPRESENT A FINAL DRAFT, ASSUMING CHANGES TO BOTH CONCENTRATIONS ARE APPROVED.)

All English majors, whether taking the traditional, creative-writing, or language, rhetoric, and writing emphasis, must complete 30 hours of junior/senior level courses, including at least two courses (6 hours) numbered at 500 or above.

- TRADITIONAL majors must take English 308 Introduction to Literary Criticism and Theory (or equivalent), English 312, 314, 320 and 322 (or equivalents), and a course on Shakespeare for a total of 18 hours of core requirements.
- CREATIVE WRITING majors must take any 15 of the above core required hours (any combination)
- LANGUAGE, RHETORIC, AND WRITING majors must take English 308 Introduction to Literary Criticism and any 12 of the remaining core required hours (any combination).
- Each emphasis has its own hours of electives: 12 hours for traditional and 15 hours for creative writing or language, rhetoric, and writing.
Core courses (traditional majors must take all of these; creative writing majors must take five of these six required courses; language, rhetoric and writing majors must take 308 and four of the remaining five):

- ENGL 308 Introduction to Literary Criticism and Theory (or an equivalent course that emphasizes literary-critical methodology). Students are urged to take English 308 before they enroll in a 500 level literature class.
- ENGL 312 (Major British Writers to 1800) OR any other English course numbered 300 and above which focuses on British literature of at least one of the literary periods from the Middle Ages to 1800, excluding Shakespeare—(3 hours)
- ENGL 314 (Major British Writers after 1800) OR any other English course numbered 300 and above which focuses on British literature of at least one of the literary periods from the Romantic Period to the present—(3 hours)
- A course in Shakespeare (ENGL 332, 626, or 627)—(3 hours)
- ENGL 320 (American Literature I) OR any other English course numbered 300 and above which focuses on American Literature of at least one of the literary periods from Colonial times to 1865—(3 hours)
- ENGL 322 (American Literature II) OR any other English course numbered 300 and above which focuses on American Literature of at least one of the literary periods from 1865 to the present—(3 hours)

Additional requirements for traditional majors (interest code 185 or 186, for the BA and BGS respectively) for a total of 30 hours:

- At least fifteen (12) junior/senior hours in English. A single creative writing course at the 300 level can be applied to this requirement. One course in the HWC 304/308/312 sequence may be applied as an elective. English 495 (Directed Study) or 496 (Internship) may be applied only to these additional requirements.

Additional requirements for the creative-writing major (interest code 270 or 271, for the BA and BGS respectively) for a total of 30 hours:

- Fifteen (15) hours of creative-writing courses, including work in at least two genres. Both ENGL 495 (Directed Study) and ENGL 499 (Honors Essay), if done with a creative-writing emphasis, may be applied, as may ENGL 360 (when the topic is essay-writing), ENGL 555 (Writing Non-Fiction) and TH&F 708 (Dramatic Script Writing) and 709 (Advanced Dramatic Script Writing). Students will be notified of the Committee’s decision before enrollment period begins.

Traditional, language, rhetoric, and writing, and undeclared creative writing majors who wish to enroll in a 500 level creative writing class must seek instructor permission before they can enroll in the course.

Additional requirements for the language, rhetoric, and writing major (interest code ### or ####, for the BA and BGS respectively) for a total of 30 hours:
Fifteen (15) hours of language, rhetoric, and writing courses, including either English 380 (Introduction to Rhetoric and Composition) or English 387 (Introduction to the English Language), and at least 6 additional hours of language and rhetoric courses (English 359, 380, 385, 387, 400, 580, 587, 590 with appropriate topic, or their equivalents). Students may take all 15 hours in language and rhetoric, or they may include writing courses. Appropriate writing courses include English 360, 361, 362, 562, 563, 564, and no more than 3 hours in creative writing courses. ENGL 495 (Directed Study), 496 (Internship), 498 (Honors Proseminar), and ENGL 499 (Honors Essay), if done with a language rhetoric, and writing emphasis, may be applied.

c) Proposal to Change Major Admission Requirements – Sociology

CURRENT REQUIREMENTS (from Catalog):
Completion of two sociology courses, including SOC 104, with a grade-point average of 2.0 or higher in all sociology courses is required for admission to the major.

PROPOSED REQUIREMENTS:
Completion of two sociology courses (including SOC 104/105) and Math 101, with a grade-point average of 2.5 or higher across these three as well as any other sociology courses is required for admission to the major.

JUSTIFICATION:
Math 101 is a prerequisite for one of our required courses, Soc 510. Students who cannot handle Math 101 cannot succeed in Soc 510. Assuming adoption of CUSA recommendations about changes to the major, we propose an admission requirement of a gpa of 2.5

d) Proposal to Change Major Admission Requirements – Communication Studies

PROPOSAL:
In order to accommodate the large number of students interested in taking COMS courses, the Communication Studies department has had a major admission process for the past 9 years. In order to comply with the new requirements passed by CUSA, the Communication Studies department would like to implement the following guidelines for admission to the COMS major.

CURRENT REQUIREMENTS:
In order to enhance the educational experience of its students, the Department of Communication Studies accepts majors on a restricted and competitive basis.
1. Complete a minimum of 30 hours of university or college-level coursework (transfer students must have an equivalent number of hours accepted by the college).
2. Complete COMS 130 (unless they have received a waiver or, in the case of transfer students, an equivalent course).
3. Complete at least one of: COMS 104, 235, 244, 246, 310, 332, or an equivalent course at another university, college or community college.
4. Earn an overall GPA of at least 2.0
5. Earn a GPA of at least 2.5 in all completed COMS courses.

Note: Students should apply to the COMS major before completing 12 hours of Communication Studies courses. Students will not be admitted to the major simply because they have completed a large number of COMS courses.

PROPOSED REQUIREMENTS:
In order to enhance the educational experience of its students, the Department of Communication Studies accepts majors through a restrictive admission process.
1. Complete a minimum of 30 hours of university or college-level coursework (transfer students must have an equivalent number of hours accepted by the college).
2. Complete a minimum of 6 hours at the University of Kansas.
3. Complete COMS 130 (unless they have received a waiver or, in the case of transfer students, an equivalent course).
4. Complete at least 3 of: COMS 104, 235, 244, 246, 310, 320, 331, 332, or equivalent courses at another university, college or community college.
5. Earn an overall GPA of at least 2.0
6. Earn a GPA of at least 2.75 in COMS 130 and 3 of the following courses: COMS 104, 235, 244, 246, 310, 320, 331, or 332. If a student has taken more than 3 of the courses listed above at the time of applying, all of the grades received in these courses (104, 235, 244, 246, 310, 320, 331, 332) will be computed in the GPA. Grades in other COMS courses will not be considered for admission the major.

JUSTIFICATION:
Due to heavy student demand for Communication Studies classes, the department believes it is necessary to have a major admission process. After reviewing the classes students have taken for admission to the major over the past four years, the department feels that a 2.75 GPA in COMS classes is a reasonable minimum for admission to the major. Over the past four years, the department has admitted an average of 110 students per semester. Based on the number of students admitted in previous semesters and the average GPA of these students, requiring a 2.75 GPA in COMS classes would not significantly change the number of students admitted in the future. The department believes this GPA would represent an adequate standard of knowledge in Communication Studies, and allow the department the opportunity to successfully manage enrollment in classes, while still providing students with the ability to graduate in a timely fashion. The new requirements for major admission would apply to students whose initial term at KU is the one immediately following final approval of the requirements.
