A Global History of Money: Aristotle to Bitcoin

Transcript Title
A Global History of Money

Effective Term
Fall 2016

Catalog Description
What is money? What does it enable, and why do we value it? Is money always the same thing? What are the relationships between money and wealth? Through examining how people across the world and over time used money and answered these questions, this course is an introduction to the global history of money in its myriad forms: gold coins, silver ingots, bonds, debts, cowry shells, and bricks of tea. It approaches money as a point of entry into themes in political, cultural, intellectual, and social history. As such, it is not a course in economic or business history, but a historical examination of how money has transformed our world. We read and view a wide range of secondary and primary sources, ranging from images of money itself to recent works by anthropologists, historians, and economists.

Key Themes Modern Global Hist
Effective Term
Fall 2016
Catalog Description
A comparative historical analysis of major global developments from the late 15th century to the present. Some of the themes likely to be explored are empire-building, contact between cultures and colonial social relations; the attraction of cities, their role in a global economy and the shift to an urban world; and the impact of capitalism and industrialization on social organization including conflict between classes and changes in the nature of work. Students learn ways of interpreting primary historical documents and comparing historical investigations across time and space.

Globalization: History & Theory

Effective Term
Fall 2016

Catalog Description
Explores the rise of global capitalism in the 19th and 20th centuries, contemporary debates about 21st century globalization, and the role of globalization in our everyday lives. Questions considered include: Is globalization an incremental process that has been going on for centuries, or is it a dramatic new force reshaping the post-Cold War world? Is it a cultural and social process or an economic and political one? Or is it all of these things? Not open to students who have completed HIST 315.

Immigrants, Refugees, Diasporas

Effective Term
Fall 2016

Catalog Description
This course looks at people who choose to cross political borders, are forced to flee beyond them, or constitute ethnic minorities living outside a homeland. Examining these groups from a global historical perspective, this course explores how ethical debates about the rights of non-citizens and ethnic outsiders have evolved in the modern age. Students learn about important issues that have affected the lives of immigrants, refugees, and diasporas, including citizenship, mobility, cultural representation, asylum policies, and the concept of human rights. The course concludes with a look at contemporary manifestations of these issues, from debates over the place of Muslims in Europe to discussions about immigration policy in the United States.

Describe how:
This course will count toward the category 2 requirement in the History Major and Minor Programs.

Rationale for Course Proposal
A new introductory pre-modern Japanese History course is needed in the department's course offerings.

Sociology of Global Health
Effective Term
Spring 2017
Catalog Description
The course explores social dimensions of health throughout the world. It examines how infectious and degenerative diseases have reflected and affected the demographics, social structure, economy, and culture of societies, and how societies have mobilized their political, economic, social and cultural resources to deal with health challenges. It focuses in particular on the role of socioeconomic inequality—both within and across countries—in shaping the emergence, spread, prevention, and treatment of disease.

Sociology of Surveillance

Effective Term
Fall 2016

Catalog Description
An overview of social science theory and research on the practices for keeping close watch on people. Surveillance strategies are adopted in the interests of security, governance, and commerce, but also for personal care, empowerment, resistance, and even play. We consider a host of social, political, ethical, and legal questions related to long-standing notions of privacy, civil liberties, and personal autonomy.

Rationale for Course Proposal
The widespread observation of the populace and the collection of personal information in democratic societies is unprecedented. Surveillance practices are typically adopted in the interests of security, governance, and commerce. This course, previously taught as “special topics,” will be an important addition to our curriculum as it will address a central organizing practice of late modernity.

Principles of Genetics

Effective Term

Fall 2016

Catalog Description

Why are related individuals more similar than unrelated individuals and what is the basis for heritable traits? From Mendel’s discoveries of the patterns of genetic inheritance, to the study of transmissible hereditary factors, genetics is central to understanding the biological sciences. Topics include molecular genetics and genetic engineering; Mendelian genetics and mapping; control of gene expression; cytogenetics; epigenetics and non-Mendelian genetics; and population and quantitative genetics. Examples are taken from a wide variety of organisms, including viruses, bacteria, plants, fungi, insects, and humans.

Prerequisites

CHEM 125 or CHEM 175 or CHEM 195 with a grade of C or higher and BIOL 150 or BIOL 151 with a grade of C or higher; consent of C or higher; or consent of the instructor.

Title:
Principles of Genetics, Honors

Catalog Description:
The science of genetics aims to explain why individuals differ from one another and how these differences are inherited. Honors Genetics covers all core topics in fundamental genetics: Mendelian inheritance, meiosis and recombination, mutation, molecular genetics, population genetics, quantitative genetics and genomics. Special attention given to the practice of genetics and the complex relationship between genotype, phenotype and environment. A broader goal of Honors Genetics is to provide students a framework for understanding recent advances in medical genetics and the modern era of personal genomics.

Describe how:

BIOL 636 is a major requirement for B.A. and B.S. degrees in biochemistry, and it is a major requirement for the biological chemistry subplan within the B.A. and B.S. degrees in chemistry.

Describe how:

BIOL 636 is a course option for the biomedical emphasis within B.S. Chemical Engineering.

Rationale for Course Proposal

BIOL 636 currently is listed as 3 credit hours, but the course has a one-hour mandatory discussion section, resulting in 4 hours of weekly contact time. We propose to increase BIOL 636 to 4 credit hours to reflect this additional hour of contact time, thus giving students credit for their time spent in class.

Course Reviewer Comments

Karen Ledom (kjh) (01/29/16 4:55 pm): Joe, Thank you for your recent course change proposal. I have a few questions before I can move them toward. Can you please see below and reply? Thanks very much! Karen BIOL 153 – I don’t see a similar change to the prerequisite for 153’s non-honors counterpart BIOL 152 – is that intentional? Also, this course is included in requirement options for the BS EVRN – could you please get a brief email of support from them just indicating that they’ve been made aware of the proposed prerequisite change? BIOL 636 – Since this change is an increase in credit hours, how will you address this in the majors that are affected? Will they now require one additional hour in the major? I will need a change to those majors so that the correct changes can be made.

Transcript Title:
Daily Life in China Opium War to 1911
Effective Term:
Spring 2016

Catalog Description:
This course examines everyday Daily Life in and issues of social and cultural interaction between China and Western nations from the mid-19th century Opium War to the end of the last dynasty in 1911. The focus is on living conditions, social customs, and gender relations of people of all social levels, from emperors and empresses to servants, prostitutes, and concubines. Other topics include the culture of drugs in the form of opium smoking, including how opium served as a key point of contact between China and the Euro-west: sexual culture, especially in the form of the history of prostitution and gender roles and values in China on the verge of modernity; interactions in daily life between Chinese and Westerners in China; and the experiences of China’s last imperial rulers. These topics are weighed against the backdrop of the decline of China’s last dynasty and the concurrent impact of modernity in the form of social, political and technological change, especially as effected by the intrusion of the Euro-west. Not open to students with credit in EALC 620. Fiction, travel diary, historical sources, film, and personal accounts will make up course materials.

Daily Life in China from the Opium War to 1911 the Present

Transcript Title
Daily Life in China from the Opium War to 1911 the Present

Effective Term
Fall 2015

Catalog Description
This course examines everyday Daily life in and issues of social and cultural interaction between China and Western nations from the mid 19th century Opium War to the end of the last dynasty in 1911 present. The focus is on living conditions, social customs, and gender relations of people of all social levels, from emperors and empresses to servants, prostitutes, and concubines. Other topics include: the culture of drugs in the form of opium smoking, including how opium served as a key point of contact between China and the Euro-west; sexual culture, especially in the form of the history of prostitution and gender roles and values in China on the verge of modernity; interactions in daily life between Chinese and Westerners in China; and the experience of China's last imperial rulers. These topics are weighted against the backdrop of the decline of China's last dynasty and the concurrent impact of Modernity in the form of social, political, and technological change, especially as effected by the intrusion of the Euro-west. Not open to students with credit in EALC 420. Flawed travel diary, historical sources, film, and personal accounts will make up course materials.

Prerequisites
An introductory course on China or East Asia or consent of instructor. None

Rationale for Course Proposal
Through examination of daily life of people at all social levels, students will learn about China in its late imperial phase, just before its launch as a modern nation. Students will read and write extensively about topics including gender and sexuality, the culture of opium smoking, the life of peasants and city working people, and the imperial government and its male and female rulers.

Title: Women and Politics
Transcript Title: Women and Politics
Effective Term: Fall 2016

Catalog Description:
This course exposes students to contemporary research on women and politics by surveying the sub-fields of political science. Topics include women's representation in the U.S., women and U.S. public policy, gender and legal theory, international women's movements, women and revolution, and women as political elites. We will examine the ways in which feminist theory and women's activism have challenged the narrow focus of the discipline as well as redefined women's place in society. (Same as WCSS 562.)

Title: Comparative Political Economy
Transcript Title: Comparative Political Economy
Effective Term: Fall 2016

Catalog Description:
This course studies fiscal, monetary, and trade policies to assess the usefulness and problems posed by these policy instruments across countries. This includes examining exchange rates, interest rates, budget deficit, trade deficit, and debt, to understand their composition and relevance to domestic economy, employment, investment, development, and international trade, the problems they pose, and how these may be overcome. We then examine when, how, and why governments enact these instruments across countries and regions.

Title: Political Change in Asia
Transcript Title: Political Change in Asia
Effective Term: Fall 2016

Catalog Description: This course focuses on three periods of major political changes in China since 1949: independence from colonization; adoption of governance; and steps toward democratization. The focus on political change is to help students see that (a) many countries initiate political reforms domestically; (b) the ability to implement changes is correlated to ability to win support; (c) the institutional process may favor some groups over others; (d) the ability to mediate political stability depends on (a), (b), and (c).

Transcript Title: Social Welfare, Taxation & Citizen
Effective Term: Fall 2016

Catalog Description:
Most developed countries provide for the basic needs of their citizens. Many provide health care, free education, and even retirement funding in exchange for taxes. The U.S. is an exception. The course presents taxation systems in most developed countries, then explores the dimensions of social welfare and the differential roles of citizens in each country. The final section of the course outlines legislative and legal possibilities for U.S. citizens.

Title: Politics of Identity
Transcript Title: Politics of Identity
Effective Term: Fall 2016

Catalog Description:
This seminar explores the nature of identity and how identity is relevant to politics and policy with a focus on political attitudes and behavior, institutions, and public policy. Topics include individual and group identity, identities such as gender, racial, sexual orientation, and partisan, and the enduring importance of identity for understanding politics as well as the policy process. This approach is multidisciplinary but political science perspectives are relied on more heavily. (Same as WGS 630.)

Title: Politics of Reproductive Policy
Transcript Title: Politics of Reproductive Policy
Effective Term: Fall 2016

Catalog Description: Reproductive policy has historically been a highly politicized policy arena, which has elicited attention from the political community as well as the public. This course moves beyond the popular rhetoric associated with reproductive issues, by critically investigating the history, development, implementation and the relative success of various reproductive policies in the United States. These policies are compared to, and assessed against, policies governing similar topics in various countries. (Same as WGS 640.)

Prerequisites: Sophomore level POLS-110 or consent of the instructor.

Course: POLS 644: Justice and Public Policy in Democratic Societies

Last edit: 02/10/16 2:13 pm
Changes proposed by: 00392007

Course Description:
Examines the ethical and philosophical choices that inform public policy in democratic societies. The guiding ideas of the course is that public policies reflect underlying decisions about the nature of state authority and the just use of that authority. The theoretical focus is on modern European and American liberal democratic thought. The empirical focus is global. Among the policy issues examined in the course are public education, immigration, gender equality, same-sex marriage, and drugs.

Prerequisites:
Sophomore level or consent of the instructor, POLS 460 or POLS 501.

- Gender, War, and Peace

Effective Term
- Fall 2016

Catalog Description
This course explores ways in which militarization and warfare are gendered processes. We ask, what does war tell us about gender, and what does gender tell us about war? Though the majority of fighters are men, women are essential to war efforts. They also represent a high proportion of the casualties of war. Yet women are rarely examined in relation to war, thus we work to uncover women’s experiences of war. We also look to women’s contributions to the peace movement in terms of both theory and practice. Asking: Is peace a feminist issue? Should feminists support women’s access to combat positions or oppose the military? What if women ruled the world—would that stop war? Does militarized masculinity harm men more than benefit them? How do states mobilize citizens to war and how is the process gendered? (Same as WGS 653.)

Theories of Politics in Latin America

Transcript Title
Theories of Politics in Latin America

Effective Term
Fall 2016

Catalog Description
This course examines how political science can be used to explain the political dynamic of Latin America. The course will be devoted to understanding different theories about politics - many of which have been devised by political scientists whose primary focus of study is not Latin America - and examining their uses and limitations in understanding Latin America. Among the themes we will be examining are the relationships between economic growth, political culture, and democracy, the role of the military in politics, the political impact of new social movements (such as the women's movement and religious movements) theories of revolution, and understanding the prevalence of political corruption in the region. Along the way, we will analyze how political scientists attempt to develop hypotheses, gather data, and test theories.

Prerequisites
Sophomore level or consent of the instructor. POLS 450 is a social science course in Latin American topics.

Program Description

Requirements for the B.A. Major

Humanities Major Core Knowledge and Skills

The Humanities major requires a total of 30 credit hours. Students must take courses in at least 3 humanities or social science departments or programs with a maximum of 15 hours from 1 department (except HWC in which students will take more than 15 hours). 18 of the 30 credit hours must be in courses numbered 300 or above.

Note: Sharing course work (credit hours) between any of the HWC major tracks and another major is restricted to 6 hours.

All other courses taken toward the major must be approved by the HWC undergraduate coordinator.

Majors must choose 1 of the following tracks: Civilizations in a Global Context, World Literatures, or Peace and Conflict Studies.

Majors are strongly encouraged to study abroad. Please see your advisor about this opportunity.

Track 1: Civilizations in a Global Context

Civilizations in a Global Context

This track studies aspects of the cultures of Western civilization and one non-Western civilization (e.g., Africa, Asia, the Middle East, or Latin America), it is designed to provide the student with knowledge of diverse civilizations and with methods for investigating their differences and commonalities. 30 credit hours, to include the following:

Introductory and Core Major Requirements (15)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>

</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

15 additional hours to include: (15)

- 6-9 hours in aspects of the cultures of Western Civilization, 1 of which must be an HWC course.
- 6-9 hours in aspects of the cultures of non-Western civilization

Track 2: World Literatures

This track offers literary-critical studies of both Western and non-Western literatures, designed to provide the student with knowledge of diverse literary traditions and methods for investigating their differences and commonalities. Majors choosing this option must complete 30 credit hours to include the following:

Introductory and Capstone Coursework (9)

- 3 hours of additional literature coursework chosen from among the following:
  - either the third HWC Masterpiece of World Literature course
  - or any other HWC literature course upon approval from an advisor

6 hours in the literature of a non-English-language European culture in translation (France, Germany, Italy, Spain, etc.). Students possessing a reading knowledge of one of the European languages are strongly encouraged to take one of the literature courses in the original language.

6 hours in the literature of a non-Western culture in translation. Students possessing a reading knowledge of a Non-Western language are strongly encouraged to take one of the literature courses in the original language.

Track 3: Peace and Conflict Studies

This track provides students with opportunities to study issues of violence and methods of peace-making from an interdisciplinary humanities perspective. Majors choosing this option must complete 30 credit hours to include the following:

Introductory and Capstone Coursework (9)

<table>

c. Change to Existing Major-BS Astronomy

Degree Requirements

Advising

Students considering a major in astronomy should confer early with a departmental representative about the selection of courses. The B.A. degree is appropriate for students who want a general education in astronomy as part of a broadly structured liberal education. The B.S. is a more specialized program with a substantial emphasis on physics content as well as astronomy. It provides preparation for a professional career or graduate work in astronomy, astrophysics, or related fields. A total of 120 credit hours is required for graduation.

First- and Second-Year Preparation

All major programs in physics and astronomy share requirements in basic physics and mathematics including PHSX 150, a seminar course for majors. Completion of MATH 125 and MATH 126 in the first year allows students to start calculus-based physics foundation courses (PHSX 211 and PHSX 216 or PHSX 213, followed by PHSX 212 and PHSX 236 or PHSX 214) by the second semester. Majors are encouraged to take PHSX 213 and PHSX 214, the honors versions of PHSX 211/PHSX 216 and PHSX 212/PHSX 236. Students should take these courses and ASTR 391 in their first two years. B.S. astronomy majors normally complete additional course work in mathematics (MATH 223, MATH 290, and MATH 320), as well as PHSX 313 and PHSX 316, in the second year.

Requirements for the B.S. Degree in Astronomy

All students pursuing the Bachelor of Science in Astronomy must complete the KU Core requirements in addition to the degree and major requirements. For details regarding the KU Core requirements, please see the KU Core section of the catalog.

General science requirements (24.5-36.5)

Majors must complete courses as specified in each of the following areas. Majors are advised to take honors courses when eligible. These hours do not contribute to the minimum number of hours required for the major.

Astronomy Requirements for Major (18-21)

Majors must complete the following seven courses:
ASTR 391        Physical Astronomy, Honors        3
ASTR 591        Stellar Astronomy        3
ASTR 592        Galactic and Extragalactic Astronomy        3
ASTR 596        Observational Astrophysics        2
ASTR 691        Astrophysics I        3
ASTR 692        Astrophysics II        3
ASTR 503        Undergraduate Research        1-4

Physics Core Knowledge and Skills (30)

Majors must complete courses as indicated in the following areas:

General Physics III. Satisfied by the following:

PHSX 313        General Physics III        3

Intermediate Physics Lab. Satisfied by the following:

PHSX 316        Intermediate Physics Laboratory I        1

Introductory Quantum Mechanics. Satisfied by the following:

PHSX 511        Introductory Quantum Mechanics        3

Physical Measurements or Electronic Circuit Measurement and Design. Satisfied by one of the following:

PHSX 516        Physical Measurements        4
PHSX 536        Electronic Circuit Measurement and Design        4

Mechanics I. Satisfied by the following:

PHSX 521        Mechanics I        3

Electricity and Magnetism. Satisfied by the following:

PHSX 531        Electricity and Magnetism        3

Thermal Physics. Satisfied by the following:

PHSX 671        Thermal Physics        3

Physics Elective. Satisfied by any PHSX lecture or laboratory course numbered 500 or higher (PHSX 693 recommended) (with the exception of PHSX 594), including:

ASTR 792        Topics in Advanced Astrophysics        3
ASTR 795        Space Plasma Physics
or PHSX 795        Space Plasma Physics
GEOL 572        Geophysics
Rationale for proposal

The request is to bring the program requirements into alignment with the new Math sequences launched in Fall 2015.

OTHER

a. Proposal to Eliminate Major Admission Requirements – BIOLOGY

We (the departments of Ecology & Evolutionary Biology and Molecular Biosciences and the Undergraduate Biology Program and Human Biology Program) propose to eliminate the admissions requirements for all of our biological sciences degrees effective fall 2016. The degrees affected are B.A. and B.S. Biochemistry, B.A. and B.S Biology, B.A. and B.S. Microbiology, B.S. Molecular Biosciences, and B.A. Human Biology.

The rationale for removing our admissions requirements is long and involved but simply put, the current system is cumbersome and confusing for students, students are unable to access useful information, and is challenging for the College and Undergraduate Biology to administer. Along with removing our admissions requirements, we propose to make changes to the prerequisites of four biology courses, BIOL 152 Principles of Organismal Biology, BIOL 153 Principles of Organismal Biology, Honors, BIOL 350 Principles of Genetics, and BIOL 360 Principles of Genetics, Honors. Modifying these course prerequisites will serve as a replacement, to some degree, for the biology admissions requirements by making sure students are better prepared for upper level biology courses.

The new prerequisites will read as follows.

BIOL 152: BIOL 150 or BIOL 151 with a grade of C- or higher; or consent of instructor.
BIOL 153: BIOL 150 or BIOL 151 with a grade of C- or higher and membership in the University Honors Program; or consent of instructor.
BIOL 350: CHEM 135 or CHEM 175 or CHEM 195 with a grade of C- or higher and BIOL 150 or 151 with a grade of C- or higher and BIOL 152 or BIOL 153 with a grade of C- or higher; or consent of instructor.
BIOL 360: CHEM 135 or CHEM 175 or CHEM 195 with a grade of C- or higher and BIOL 150 or BIOL 151 with a grade of C- or higher and BIOL 152 or BIOL 153 with a grade of C- or higher and membership in the University Honors Program; or consent of instructor.

We are submitting requests to CUSA for the prerequisite changes and will update our Catalog pages appropriately.

Please let me know if there is anything more you need to move this forward.

Many thanks,
Greg
